

“Taste the Scottish Borders”

The Scottish Borders landscape is rich in diversity, from the rolling Southern Uplands to the Berwickshire coast. These hills and valleys are home to farmers and cooks deeply committed to producing food of outstanding quality.

Request and savour local produce in restaurants, hotels and cafes; call into a shop specialising in local foods; visit your local farmers market or contact the local producer directly by telephone. Many producers will deliver direct. When shopping check that the produce is local.

This first leaflet of the Borders Food Network gives full details of quality food and drink from the area. Contact your local producers and growers and buy direct.

The Scottish Borders produces world class food and drink and it's right here on our doorstep. We need to 'think local' when buying our food. Food in the Borders is produced to the highest standards and has not travelled half way round the world to reach our plates.

Buying our food locally also helps to safeguard the supply of quality produce from Borders' family farms.

The National Farmers Union of Scotland and the Borders Foundation for Rural Sustainability have worked with local producers to create the Borders Food Network.

Taste the difference by buying local produce.

If you are a local producer or provider, or thinking about becoming one, and would like to be part of this Network then please contact Debbie Playfair NFUS 01835 822274 or Denise Walton BFRS 01890 781328
